AN ILL WIND.

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good." The late spring, the unseasonable weather, has, perhaps, stimulated house decoration. Something has, at any rate, from our point of view. The demands were never heavier on us than this year, and we are glad to say, never met with more promptness and satisfaction. Our enlarged stock is handled with increased facilities, and the result is a great business.

Fire in a Dangerous Place.

Shortly after 6 o'clock last evening fire was discovered in the cutting and packing room of the Heims Manufacturing Company. This company makes shirts, waists and skirts on the second and third floors of the building on South Meridian street, near Louisiana street. The shipping clerk of the company, C. W. Wheat, had locked up and left, ten minutes before, without noticing any sign of fire. The blaze started in the northwest corner of the second story, under a wooden stairway which led to the machinery room above. There a large number of girls are accustomed to work. Had the fire gained much headway before quitting time they would have been shut off and many would probably have been hurt or killed in the rescue through the third-story windows. The narrow stairway, their only means of exit, was with the hottest of the flames, and is a charred and crumbling mass. The loss from the fire will probably not reach above $500, which is fully covered by insurance. The department had the flames extinguished in twenty-five minutes, and succeeded in keeping the fire from the third floor. A large consignment of shirts, waists and skirts, packed and about ready for shipping, but was destroyed.

Increase in Real Estate Value.

D. P. Erwin yesterday purchased from R. S. McKee a lot on the corner of Georgia and McCrea streets, one hundred feet long by thirty-five feet in width. On this Mr. Erwin will erect a five-story building fronting on Georgia street, which will conform in architecture to the fine block which Mr. McKee erected on the front part of the same lot. Mr. McKee paid, three years ago, $25,000 for the lot as a whole, and sold the rear half at one-half that sum, $12,500.

Samuel King Gives Bail.

Samuel King, who has been in jail for several weeks in default of $500 bail, secured bond yesterday and was released. He is the New Castle man who, while acting as agent of D. H. Baldwin & Co., is alleged to have defrauded them of several hundred dollars.

INDIANA MEDICAL SOCIETY.

Papers and Election of Officers by Doctors of the Old School.

The second day's session of the annual meeting of the Indiana State Medical Society opened yesterday morning with an interesting paper by Dr. L. C. Cline, of Indianapolis, on "Tonsillitis." Papers were also read by Dr. J. P. Worrell, of Terre Haute, on "Eye-strain and its Connection with Headache," and "Cornical Ulcer" by Dr. J. L. Thompson, of Indianapolis, but the paper attracting the most attention bore the strange title "An Ichthyophagus." It referred to the famous freak, the Tipton-county twins. This paper was by Dr. T. O. Armfield, who gave a medical description of this two-headed baby. He noted that the brains of both were well developed, and the children quite handsome and exceedingly bright for their age. One would cry while the other laughed or slept, and one would experience pain while the other suffered none. They were put upon a museum circuit, Sept. 21, when three months old, and died, at Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 21, 1890, when eight months old. One died from measles and the other died forty-five minutes thereafter, from shock caused by the cold blood rushing into its veins from the dead child, and its inability to oxygenize the dead blood. "How much longer these children might have lived had they not contracted the measles, or some accident, betwixt them," said the Doctor in conclusion, "we cannot tell, but it is probable they had lived their allotted time. They had arrived at an age when nature demands some exercise, and as they could neither be set up nor turned over sufficient to relieve a congested organ or a part of an organ, I am inclined to believe that some part would have soon suffered from a non-equalization of the circulation." The Doctor thought their lives had been lengthened by the constant exhibition they had been given every hour through the day when they were examined in every possible position. The society appointed a committee composed of one member from each county in the State, to attend to the enforcement of the law regulating the practice of medicine in Indiana, as a number of men from other States are now practicing in this State without license. Dr. William Cline, of Tell City, was made chairman of this committee of ninety-two members. The following officers, selected by the nominating committee, were chosen for the ensuing year: President—G. C. Smythe, Greencastle. Vice-president—H. C. Wood, Angola. Secretary—E. S. Elder, Indianapolis. Assistant Secretary—H. C. Reade, Tipton. Treasurer—Frank Ferguson, Indianapolis. The president-elect appointed the following committees: Ethics—Edwin C. Walker, Evansville; J. S. Gatch, Lawrenceburg; G. W. H. Kemper, Muncie; W. B. Morgan, Evan Hadley, Indianapolis. Arrangements—E. E. Felt, M. M. Kovach, Jameson, Indianapolis; Wm. Flynn, Marion; T. C. Kennedy, Shelbyville. Publication—Frank Ferguson, A. W. Brayton, J. H. Taylor, J. A. Sutcliffe, E. S. Elder, Indianapolis. Pathology—James F. Hibberd, Richmond. The president-elect was introduced to the members, and the society, which had accepted the invitation of the faculty of the Indiana Medical College, extended to Dr. Franklin W. Hays, the college secretary, to dine at the Denison, adjourned until the second Tuesday in May, 1890.

At the Dinner Table.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the members of the Indiana Medical Society, to the number of nearly 200, were seated at table at the Denison, as guests of the faculty of the Indiana Medical College. It was a finely furnished table, and Dr. L. D. Waterman, of this city, gracefully presided as toastmaster. Dr. E. S. Elder spoke to the toast, "Our Guests," laying much stress upon the hard practice, and indomitable energy of the country doctor. Dr. R. S. McKee, of Cincinnati, editor of the Medical Record, spoke to the toast, "Medical Journalism." Dr. Edwin Walker, of Evansville, to the subject, "The Indiana State Medical Society." He insisted that there should be an evening at each annual session devoted to the social side of the doctor's nature. Dr. John C. Sexton, of Rushville, discussed the relations of the physician to the subject of medical education. Dr. F. W. Payne, of Franklin, made some happy remarks on the "Past and Present of Medicine in Indiana." Dr. L. D. Waterman gave a graphic account of his career as a "teacher" in the Medical College of Indiana, which he characterized as the "pioneer of medical education" in this State. Dr. A. R. Tucker, of Cicero, an old soldier, delivered a paper on "The Soldier's Friend," and others, and "the dinner" received a rising vote of thanks at the suggestion of Dr. Gatch, the retiring president.

INSTITUTE OF HOMOEOPATHY.

A Day and Evening Spent in Hearing Interesting Papers.

Yesterday morning's session of the Indiana Institute of Homoeopathy began with a paper by Dr. W. H. Baker, of Terre Haute, on "Vaccination," in which he took a decided stand against it. Dr. W. B. Clarke, of this city, spoke at length, detailing some of the dangers of vaccination as a disease-causing, and as to the sources of impurities. Dr. F. L. Davis, of Evansville, recounted his life gripped cases and their management. Dr. J. S. Mitchell, a distinguished Chicago physician, president of the Homoeopathic College in that city, was then introduced as a delegate from the Illinois society. He responded with a paper detailing his treatment for cancer, a disease of which he claims to have cured many cases. Dr. D. H. Dean, of Columbus, and Dr. D. Clapper, of Mooreland, followed with papers detailing cases of typhoid fever and other diseases. Dr. Alice C. Nivison, of Lafayette, then contributed a valuable paper on "Melancholia." H. Louis, president of the Missouri society, was introduced, and responded felicitously to the condition of homoeopathy in this State, as did Prof. Thomas M. Stewart, of Pulte College, Cincinnati, for the Ohio doctors. Dr. F. L. Davis, of Evansville, contributed a paper on "Materia Medica." The election of officers for the ensuing term resulted: President—E. W. Sawyer, Kokomo. First Vice-president—M. H. Waters, Terre Haute. Second Vice-president—W. T. Gott, Crawfordsville. Treasurer—J. S. Martin, Muncie. Secretary—William B. Clarke, Indianapolis. In the afternoon Dr. I. N. Taylor, of Crawfordsville, president of the State Board of Health, read a paper on "Germ Culture Related to the Examination of Water," and Dr. M. H. Waters, of Terre Haute, gave a somewhat similar paper on "Germs and their Relation to Disease." The two papers were interesting and well illustrated. Dr. Taylor was tendered a vote of thanks for his extended labors on the State Board of Health, as reflecting great credit on his society and school. Dr. W. B. Clarke read a paper on "The Brain Dangers of Quinine," taking the ground that many cases of insanity, suicide and even murder, are caused by its reckless use. He followed with a short and interesting paper on "Cremation." Dr. W. S. J. Hay, of Pittsburg, then gave a practical illustration of a new and safe method of producing anesthesia with his apparatus. It was tested on a patient, a little daughter of one of the city physicians, while Dr. W. A. Dunn, of the Hahnemann College, Chicago, a skilled throat operator, performed a difficult operation on the city physician's part of the nose for a serious obstruction. Both were very successful. Dr.

Taylor then called attention to an apparent injustice done Fred S. A. Jones, of the Michigan University, Ann Arbor, several years ago, in dropping him from the rolls of the institute through an inadvertence. The society decided that his distinguished services to it and its interests were universally recognized, and it could not afford to be placed in the attitude of even accidentally putting a slight on Dr. Jones, and everything bearing thereon was ordered expunged.

At the evening session Dr. J. S. Martin, of Muncie, read his paper on "Abrasions of the Cervix," and Dr. L. W. Jordan, of this city, read one on "Hyperopia," a severe eye trouble, which called out quite a discussion and many inquiries. Other papers were as follows: "Can Criminals be Reformed, or Crimes be Prevented by Medical Treatment," by Dr. G. W. Bowen, Fort Wayne; "The Philosophy of Homoeopathy as Taught by Nature," by Dr. E. P. Jones, Marion; "Professional Hobby-riders," by Dr. J. E. Mann, Decatur, and "Infantile Convulsions," by Dr. A. B. Campbell, Rockville. The institute then adjourned until next May.

THE ECLECTIC PHYSICIANS.

Support of Their Medical College Refused by the State Association.

The eclectic doctors listened yesterday morning, to a paper on "Traumatic Surgery," by Dr. H. Long, of this city. Dr. F. Carriger, of Thornton, then gave his opinion of "The Trend of Eclectic Medicine," after which the committee to which the resolution of Dr. Pickrell was referred made its report. This resolution called for action concerning the Eclectic association relative to the medical college of this school of physicians. It was stated in the report that after writing for those prosecuting charges against the institution had made statements satisfactory to the committee, the defense, through W. P. Adkinson and A. J. Smith, refused to say anything, because they did not consider themselves amenable to the association. The committee was of the opinion that the college was in what it should be, and recommended that the association refuse to give sanction, support or recognition to the institution until there is a change in the management. The report was adopted, and the result of discussion, in which both sides lost temper. Professor Adkinson and Dr. Culver had a verbal dispute, which was announced to the members of the association. The speaker was then interrupted by questions and denunciations, and sometimes by hisses. Only two votes were cast against the report. The effect of the report is to put the college outside the pale of eclectic medicine in this State, and the result will be the withdrawal from the institution of the recognition of the National Association. Professor Adkinson defiantly announced, however, that he would still run a medical college, and the morning session closed with speeches for eclecticism by Dr. J. R. Duncan, Dr. E. Hubbard, Dr. W. H. Kendrick, Dr. J. S. Wahl and Dr. H. Long. At the afternoon session a paper by Dr. Dr. McCall was read, and then the association passed a memorial in honor of Dr. Lawson Abbott. Officers of the association for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President—A. W. Porter, Logansport. First Vice-president—E. A. Conners, Tampico. Second Vice-president—W. W. Keeling, Sulphur Hill. Treasurer—W. F. Carriger, Thornton. Secretary—M. H. Baker, Indianapolis. Press Reporter—G. W. Averill, Indianapolis. The association then adjourned to meet here next May.

Some women are "bothered to death" with corsets breaking. There is a "bone" that never breaks; it can't be broken—by wear. The only way it can be broken is by bending it back the other way—which is never done in wear. Don't believe it, perhaps? Very well. Go to your own store and get a Kabo corset; and, if it breaks in a year, go back and get your money. The steels may break—the Kabo never! The store has a primer on Corsets for you.
